Inclusive Urban Sanitation Initiative
Far too many people in towns and cities around the world still lack access to safely managed sanitation. IWA’s Inclusive Urban Sanitation Initiative aims to redefine the global agenda on urban sanitation in the upcoming years. This initiative is part of IWA’s broader efforts to advocate for cities that are inclusive, resilient, water-wise, and sanitation-secure. The initiative is being progressed through a dedicated campaign #SanitAction to garner support and collaborative action.

OBJECTIVES OF THE INITIATIVE

1. Engage experts across sectors, especially the public sector, to define global goals and fundamentals for a public sector-driven approach to sanitation service outcomes.

2. Build on existing approaches to progress a widely applicable framework with actionable guidance, to advance inclusive urban sanitation, especially in low- and middle-income countries.
